Mr. W. L. White spoke of the terrible condition of the cemetery, which he thought was a disgrace to the city. However, he advocated to follow the regular order of business, and expressed the hope that the matter would be referred to the Finance Committee.

The motion to suspend the rules was lost by a vote of 19 to 6-Messrs, Carter, Guigon, King, Murphy, Thomas and W. L. White voting in the negative.

COMPLETE BY CONTRACT. Mr. Guigon, on behalf of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform, submitted a report and resolution instructing the Committee on Grounds and Buildings to com-plete the new City Hall by contract. Mr. Guigon explained the report, and stated that even at this late hour a considerable amount of money could be saved if the building was completed by contract. Mr. Noble wanted to know whether the needless expenditure of money had been caused by the employment of day labor or by errors committed by the head of the department.

Mr. Guigon said that while a great many errors had been committed which were still under consideration, the employment of less expenditures of money.

Mr. Carter called attention to the fact that the construction of the new City Hall was carried on under an ordinance which provided that the work be done by day

Mr. Guigon then offered as an amendment the adoption of an ordinance instead of a resolution that providing that contract labor be substituted for day labor.

OPPOSED TO IT.

Mr. Carter spoke at some length against the adoption of the amendment and ex-plained that only three kinds of the work had been carried on by day work, the brick and stone work and the putting up of the wood work. He added that it was dangerous to open this issue at the beginning campaign, the result of which was at least doubted by some. The adoption of the amendment appeared to him to be a re-The adoption of faction against the Committee on Grounds and Buildings, against the City Engineer and against the workingmen and their foremen. Mr. Murphy said that the recommendation had been made by the committee only after consultation with the City Engineer, who thought that one-third of the expen-ditures could be saved in that manner. In referring to the political aspect of the matter, he thought that if the Democratic party was to lose votes because the Counoil was endeavoring to save the city money, the sooner it got rid of such men the better it would be.

Mr. Noble thought it would have been only courteey if the Committee on Retrench-ment and Reform had invited the Committee on Grounds and Buildings to a joint session before introducing such a measure.

Mr. Guigon stated that the chairman of the Committee on Grounds and Buildings had been invited to attend the meetings of the Committee; on Retrenchment and Reform, but it a he declined to do so unless the whole committee was invited. He spoke for some time in support of his amendment and was followed in the same strain by Mr. W. L. White.

A LOWER TEMPERATURE.

The Rain of Last Evening Had a Very Enjoyable Effect on Us.

Sunday was another scorcher, and people felt it much more, I fancy, because most of them had nothing to do except to sit around in vain efforts to keep cool. showed falling off in attendance, but the electric cars, those blessings this weather, were packed all day, especially towards the evening and up to the time the storm came along, about 10 o'clock, when some rain fell, having but little more effect than laying the dust. The lightning was very vivid indeed, and by 11 o'clock the atmosphere was cooled off and many people, for the first time since this hot spell has been upon us, slept com-fortably and soundly all the night through.

DEOPS BEGAN TO FALL. Yesterday morning broke and continued to grow hot, until about noon the mercury was climbing up into the 80's and 90's again. But the rain was in the air, or somehow every-body felt so, and sure enough between 5 and 6 o'clock the clouds which had been chasing each other around in an nimless sort of way, settled down to business, gathered to gether and commenced to quarrel with each other in deep growls of thunder that made the poor, parched people hereabouts glad, for they knew then that the blessed rain was not far off and so it proved, for at 6 o'clock the drops began to tall, and fall steadily, and heavily, and harder by 7:30 there was a most delightful in the temperature. By 10 o'clock the sky was almost clear again. The hot spell seems to be broken, at all events for last night, and the good people of Richmond got their full quota of "tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," again last night.

Many people visited the Reservoir Park Forest Hill Park, all the billsides, the ceme teries and squares Sunday, hoping for a little fresh air, but they found only a little, very little, for the air was still and the sun seemed to get fresh heat and pour upon their heads, and many of them came back home, picked up their fans and stuck it out on the front porches. I went out to Forest Hill Park with many others, packed, jammed, squeezed and forced en route in the electric cars, till, srriving there, I felt like a sardine liberated from his Forest Hill Park is a beautiful place naturally, and could be made very attractive, provided there was something in the way of refreshments to cheer the thirsty and hungry souls that go there.

It would be infinitely better for the health of the visitors if the restaurateurs were allowed to sell lager and light wines instead of the dreadful decoctions now served out under the name of soda water, limeade. milk-shakes, &c. Then, too, the signs that comfort one on his walks are calculated to make one feel uneasy. For instance, you are ordered to "keep off the grass," directed are ordered to "keep off the grass," directed not to "dance on the porch," adjured not to "pull dogwood blossoms," implored not to "break off wild flowers," and so on, until I looked up to see on the beautiful fleecy and snow-white masses, piled up in the heavens till one thought of the Matterhorn and Mount Blanc, the sign "Keep off the clouds," and ahead of me on the ground the sign, "Get off the earth." The sandwiches are fearfully and wonderfully made and after off the earth." The sandwiches are fear-fully and wonderfully made, and, after biting and sucking and swearing at one. I flung it in the lake, and the fish were try-ing their hands, or their mouths rather, on it—the last seen of it.

The people present went about their ways with an air of solemnity and suppression that was appalling. One fair maid had retired to the little dell through which a stream was running, and was laving her little toes in the same, looking ahead of her with a remember-the-Sabbath-day-to-keep. it-holy expression on her face that was very amusing. DEATH FROM HEAT.

young men who recently sent the Yale shell across the finish line fifteen lengths ahead of the badly beaten Harvard crew. Ives first attracted particu-Iar attention in rowing circles by his work in the 不能 h in S. B. IVES. Yale-Atlanta race in 1890. On that memorable occasion Phil Allen, the Yale stroke, broke his oar during the first mile, and jumped overboard that the crew might not be encumbered by so much useless weight. Ives, who was pulling away at No. 7, promptly officiated as stroke from his usual sent, and the badly handicapped crew won the race. Last year Ives did not row. He is a New York man, and with his 175 pounds of bone and muscle is a magnificent specimen of physical excellence. At the our Ives is described as grace itself, and few Yale men have a better knowledge of the famous Bob Cook stroke, that has given Yale so many victories over Harvard, than he. Ives is a good disciplinarian, and Yale men are not only confident that the crew of 1893 will be a well trained one, but they also expect that Ives will for a third time row in a winning crew against the crimson.

Sullivan's Training Quarters.

John L. Sullivan is training for bis fight with Corbett at Canoe Place inn, Bay Head, L. I. The old inn is said to have stood for nearly 200 years, and is surrounded by trees that came from the island of St. Helena. This fact, however, does not cause John L. to cherish any superstition that the coming fight for which he is WHERE JOHN L. IS TRAINING. training under the old St. Helena elms will be the Waterloo of his career. He is as confident as ever that he will whip the young Californian pugilist.

The inn is located in a very quiet spot where Sullivan may get plenty of good air and exercise and do his training undisturbed by curious crowds. Phil Casey and Jack Ashton are looking after the big pugilist, who also has a Japanese valet.

A Chicago Plutarch. A Chicago baseball reporter has just finished a life of Captain Comiskey, and those who have been favored with a sight of the proof sheets declare it is worthy to be classed with Plutarch's best efforts. Mr. Comiskey is a very well traveled man, and his adventures fairly rival those contained in the personal reminiscences of the late Senor Othello, as related by him to pitying Desdemona. But baseball literature will never reach its just level till some biographer lays violent hands upon the bristling incidents which have filled the life of Adrian Cæsar Anson like the quills upon the fretful porcupine, That Chicago bookmaker doesn't know his business, else he would not have gone away from home after a subject for imTHE KEELEY INSTITUTE.

Removal of the Virginia Branch.

In order to meet the apparent necessity for closer proximity to the great business centres and larger cities of the State, the management of the Keeley Institute heretofore located at Salem, Va., have determined to remove it to Point Breeze, immediately adjacent to Newport News, on Hampton Roads, where they will be ready for the reception of patients on Thursday next, August 4th. The opportunity for permanent relief from the liquor and opium habits, which has been so signally illustrated in the history of the institute at Salem, will be greatly enhanced in its new location by reason of the invigorating ocean breezes and the opportunities for salt water bathing, fishing boating, &c.

Point Breeze is located on one of the finest beaches adjacent to the coast, one mile from Newport News-its postofficeand one-half mile from the depot of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, with which it is connected at present by omnibus.

Persons desiring to visit the Institute can reach Newport News by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad or those by the Norfolk and Western railroad will make close connection at Norfolk with boat for Newport News and Knights of Pythias, Uniform Rank, Supreme Grand Lodge and Bleonial Encampment, Kansas City, Mo.

For above occasion the Richmond and Danyille railroad will sell tickets to Kansas City and return from important coupon stations at one first-class fare for the round-sive, limited returning September 15th, 1892.

Water! Water! Water!

After the opinion of the doctors about "impure water" we drink, published in Sunday's Times, you had better heed the advice of Polk Miller & Co., and send for the Otterburn Lithia Water. The sick people will drink water at any price. Well people don't like to pay anything for water, but the price of Otterburn Lithia has been put at such a low figure that aven "wall" nearly at such a low figure that even "well" people can afford to drink it. If what the "doctors" say is true, the "well" are likely to get sick unless they drink Otterburn instead of the
